An Effective Prayer Training Model for Church Growth: Centered on Wangsung Presbyterian Church in South Korea

GeunBae Hwang

Date
4-2013

Department
Rawlings School of Divinity

Degree
Doctor of Ministry (DMin)

Chair
Charlie Davidson

Primary Subject Area
Education, Religious; Religion, Clergy; Religion, General; Religion, Philosophy of; Sociology, General; Theology

Keywords
Prayer

Disciplines
Christianity | Comparative Methodologies and Theories | Education | Missions and World Christianity | Practical Theology | Religion | Religious Thought, Theology and Philosophy of Religion | Sociology

Recommended Citation
Hwang, GeunBae, "An Effective Prayer Training Model for Church Growth: Centered on Wangsung Presbyterian Church in South Korea" (2013). Doctoral Dissertations and Projects. 685.
https://digitalcommons.liberty.edu/doctoral/685

Abstract
The purpose of this project is to investigate biblical church growth, specifically studying South Korean pastors roles concerning the healthy church and spiritual reinforcement, with a limited focus and application to WangSung Presbyterian Church and other churches in South Korea. This project primarily utilizes the New Testament, as well as literature on church growth and healthy spirituality. In addition, references specifically regarding church growth and statistical information from Korean church ministries will also be used. This project shares a new alternative way for the growth of churches: A prayer-training model as the most effective method for church growth. A healthy and true growth can only be achieved through prayer. The definition and concept of prayer will be examined in depth. It is the intention of this project to provide new insight to pastors who are longing for church growth and desiring to constantly transmit truth to other believers regarding the subjects of spirituality, prayer, and the role of the pastor within the Christian community.
is not about competing with the ministry down the street but more about developing the people God has planted in the local church to be used by God with their unique gifts. I believe people are called to churches for a specific purpose. We are all on a journey and the church helps us develop as Christians and supports our unique calling. In his book, Purpose Driven Church, Rick Warren says "...since the church is a living organism, it is natural for it to grow if it is healthy...If a church is not growing it is dying..." This can be a scary concept for a small local church. But, with socially skilled people and a little training it can be done.

4. Care for Church Members.

Church members are one of the key customer groups in a church. In the book, The Purpose Driven Church, Rick Warren goes into detail about how he planted the Saddleback Church in Orange County, California. One of the first things he did was take a look at the area ad demographic of his church and then he built a church based on the needs of the people in his local community. Look at the people you already have in your church. Are the majority of them middle-aged professionals, working class young families, teens or wealthy pensioners? What are their interests and aspirations? I like to think of this way: if I have to do something more than once, I need to create an effective and efficient system for it. Just take a quick look at creation and you'll see how our God is a God of systems.